AT HOME HOW-TO GUIDE:

KID CLEANUP

STEP 1:

DON'T PANIC

This how to guide will show you exactly how to make sure the spills and accidents from your children don't turn into stains.

As long as you follow these steps in a timely manner, there's no need to worry about the plate of spaghetti junior just dropped on your white carpet.

STEP 2:

SOAK UP FLUIDS

Grab paper towels and press down on the spot.

Soak up as much of it as you can, using as many towels as you need.

Don't do anything other than put pressure on the spot. Don't rub, wipe, or twist. Just pressure.

STEP 2 FOR NON LIQUIDS:

VACUUM

If the mess isn't a liquid, removing the dirt/soiling with a vacuum is a must.

Wait until the carpet is dry.

Once dry, slowly vacuum the area until all of the loose soiling is removed from the carpet.

STEP 3:

DILUTE THE AREA

After you've soaked up as much of the spill as possible we need to dilute what's still left.

Wet the area with an amount of water similar to the amount of liquid/marker/food/etc. that your child left on the carpet.

The goal here is to minimize the leftover staining on the carpet.

Repeat step 2. If you have a wet/dry vac, this could replace step 2.

STEP 4:

ELIMINATE SOILING

To ensure the spot doesn't become a stain we need to separate the soiling from the carpet fibers.

Ideally you do this with a professional spotter. If you don't have one you can use simple dish washing soap.

If you're using soap, mix 1 TBSP of dishwashing liquid with 2 cups of cold water.

Dampen the towel with the soap mixture or spotter and blot the spot.

STEP 5:

MICROFIBER TOWEL

Soak up everything with a microfiber towel. If you don't have one, a cotton towel will work fine. Microfiber is preferred because it is incredibly absorbent.

This step will grab everything left behind from step 4.

STEP 6:

DO THE TWIST

Wait until the carpet is dry. This is important in order to make sure the spot does not come back.

Carpets dry from the bottom up. If the spill made it to the backing of the carpet it will show up on the surface of the carpet as it dries. This is why we wait until the carpet is dry to pull up the final residue of the spill.

Grab a damp white cotton towel. White is best so we can see what we've recovered from the carpet.

Do the twist!

Put the white towel on the dry spot and stand on top of it. Twist your foot back and forth so that you are putting pressure on the spot.

Pick up the towel and see how much you've transferred from the carpet to the towel.

STEP 7:

FREE SPOTTER!

We mentioned in Step 4 that using a professional spotter is best to eliminate spots.

We would love to offer you a free bottle of spotter so you don't have to worry about these accidents ever again.
